AUBURN MAYOR DECLARES AUGUST 28, 2015 AS GRITTY McDUFF'S DAY

AUBURN, ME. – Auburn's Mayor, Jonathan P. LaBonté has officially declared tomorrow, Friday, August 28, 2015 as Gritty McDuff's Day in Auburn. The Mayoral proclamation recognizes the 10th anniversary celebration scheduled for August 28.

“Gritty McDuff's and its founders, Ed Stebbins and Richard Pfeffer believed in Auburn's downtown riverfront at a critical time in our revitalization,” states Mayor Jonathan P. LaBonté. “And in recognition of their 10th anniversary of opening and their becoming part of the fabric of our community, I'm declaring the day of their anniversary celebration as Gritty McDuff's Day in Auburn.”

Gritty's will be celebrating their anniversary by offering their patrons live music, giveaways and of course, their famous, hand-crafted beers.
